

Always room for more yarns

Description

And that means yarn stories! yarns=stories. Get it? So, I now have an instagram account that I have begun using to share more photos than in the posts as well as yarn photos not related at all to any post (at least yet). And as I complete projects down the road that use the yarns I have blogged about, I will post them to Instagram so you can see what these beautiful skeins have become. I'm hoping you'll enjoy this as well as reading the stories here.

And because no day is perfect without a bit of purple in it! here's yours for the day!
