

Plan B

Description

I must post this before I take part in the Hill Country Yarn Crawl. It has been going on since the 5th but I have been waiting for Tina, my yarn partner-in-mischief to join me. We have a plan that should take us to 14 of the 18 yarn shops. Did I mention weâ??ll be doing most of that in two days? It is an ambitious plan. We shall see how distracted we get. And sandwiched in there somewhere is a stop by Liberty Hill where our friend Karla is building a house. HmMMM.

My quest on this crawl is to find yarns for three patterns I have printed out to take with and to fill in a couple more where I need one more skein of a different color. I have spent several hours today searching for patterns to assign to part of my stash. I now have six more projects bagged and tagged. And that gives me permission to buy more yarn. Yay!

This is why I always have multiple projects in progress. And in the event that I get snowed inâ??in Texasâ??I have plenty to keep me occupied. Whoop!

Category

1. Uncategorized

Tags

1. Crawl

Date Created

October 11, 2018

Author

admin